

WE NOMINATE

Bernard E. Bergesen Jr., a wonderfully dedicated Princetonian, who in the past 11 years has succeeded in translating his deep interest in baseball, and in the well-being of youngsters, into a program which each year holds the attention of nearly 400 young men from all parts of the Princeton Community. In much the same way the English schoolmaster of yesteryear advocated "the virtues of cricket," the 57-year old Bergesen, president of Personnel Press, Inc., and for some three decades well-known in the test-publishing field, feels that baseball—organized in the right way—should be made available to one and all as an educational opportunity rather than as an over-organized enterprise.

A baseball addict ever since he played "a little outfield" in the elementary and secondary schools of Seattle, Wash., Bergesen, a former teacher, high school principal and school-system superintendent, has literally "out-Landised" the late Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, this country's first commissioner of professional baseball. At the moment Bergesen is serving voluntarily as president of the revitalized Tri-County League, commissioner of the summertime Junior League (for boys aged from 13 to 16) and chairman of the ever-expanding Midget League (boys 10-12) that limits its activities to the school year.

Bergesen's approach to elementary education, and his "philosophy of baseball," were brought to the surface by a newspaper account that detailed how 200 boys in one community tried out for four 15-man teams. "Sixty were selected—and featured; 140 were rejected—and forgotten." On the other hand, the Princeton Midget League is inclusive; every boy, within the age range, if he will sign up through the YMCA, is assigned to a team. This means that Princeton with a dozen 20-boy squads, and with a unique free-substitution rule aimed at increasing the number of actual participants, has more youngsters playing baseball than cities with populations of 100,000 or more.

Boston-born, the son of a minister in the Norwegian Lutheran Church, Bergesen grew up in his father's pastorates in Boston, Chicago, Seattle and Minneapolis. He prepared for the teaching profession at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., and, shortly after his graduation with the Class of 1923, became at age 23 the youngest school superintendent in the State of Minnesota. From Ellendale, Minn., where he also made time for coaching school baseball teams, he moved into test-publishing, a shift in professions which carried him to Philadelphia for a period of 17 years and brought him to Princeton in 1948.

Bergesen, formerly associated with the Educational Testing Service's Cooperative Test Division, launched his own Princeton-headquartered concern in 1951. His interests, in addition to baseball and a growing business that involves travel throughout the country, range from the Executive Committee of the Princeton Republican Club to the Princeton Band Committee, sponsor of the increasingly popular summer concert series. A former officer of the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, he is the father of three sons, recent graduates of Cornell, Dartmouth and Duke.

For distinctive and unstinted service to the youth of his adopted community; for inspiring in others, both adults and youngsters, his enthusiasm for the educational opportunities provided by a "sport offering team and individual skills;" for his unbounded faith in the upcoming generations; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

REPORT OF THE WEEK
2,000 New Employers. At mid-week the Princeton Area was buzzing with the rapidly spreading report that one of the country's major industrial establishments, with a profound interest in basic research, is about to announce the acquisition of a multi-acre tract of land in the Hope-well-Princeton neighborhood with headquarters on Carter Road, Hopewell.

As TOWN TOPICS went to press, these were the facts being circulated by reliable "New Jersey houses": (1) a major company has signed an option for a sizeable chunk of "Princeton countryside"; (2) the installation, if it is brought into being, will mean an additional 2,000 residents in this area; (3) the Princeton Area continues as the "hottest research magnet" in these United States.

BROADWAY BOUND: The first novel of Princeton Professor Carlos H. Baker, Wilson Professor of Literature, is scheduled for early dramatization. See "This Is Princeton," "A Friend in Power," (Orren Jack Turner Photograph).

"DAY OF DECISION"

September 18, 1959, Tuesday evening's prolonged, conversational session of Mayor and Council, which ran for some two hours and a half, was highlighted by a unanimously passed resolution that will bring the Council face-to-face with a firm decision on the sites to be used for the construction of the 13 public-housing units necessitated by the Urban Renewal Program.

Council President Coyle's motion, seconded by Public Works Chairman Sorenson, means that the Council at its next stated meeting—Friday, September, 18—will make the final moves in what Mayor Male calls a "major chess game" and will decide how 13 units, including seven small dwellings for the aged and probably six family houses, will be built on "scattered sites."

It is now considered likely, on the basis of a discussion prompted by a question from GOP Mayor's Assistant Orren Jack Turner Jr., that the units for the aged will be clustered in the Princeton Hospital Area. Possible locations for family housing, all of the single-family variety, are Borough-owned property in the Township in the vicinity of Lower Alexander Street, Borough-owned property on the west side of Elm Road near the Township line and Join Street, abutting the fenced-off entrance to Stoneworth.

Discussions of Urban Renewal and public housing brought to light the following announcements: (1) Mayor Male reported that the possibility of integrating public housing for the aged with the operations of "Merwick" is not "completely forestalled;" and (2) Borough Attorney McCarthy said that the pending "Urban Renewal Case" is being "expedited," on the authority of Mayor and Council, to the State's highest court in order to avoid the possible delay of "lost weeks" in the Appellate Division.

"A FRIEND IN POWER"

To Be Dramatized. Word reaches Princeton from the precincts of Broadway that Professor Carlos H. Baker's first novel, "A Friend in Power," a delightful account of how a college goes about the business of selecting and electing a new president, may well be developed into a major production on what Manhattanites fondly call "The Big Screen."

The rights to dramatize the novel, which was published by Scribners in May, 1958, and received enthusiastic reviews both in this—Continued on Page 2

How to harness the power in your estate

Like the strength of rivers—or horses, or atoms—the financial power in your estate needs harnessing to be fully useful.

Today, even modest estates may include deferred compensation benefits... royalty or patent rights... or perhaps a business interest. And unless such diverse assets work as part of an efficient, economically managed whole, vital family protection will be wasted.

By planning trusts that organize your estate assets to pull together, you can add to your family's security. May we talk over this opportunity with you and your attorney—soon?

YOUR TICKET TO GOOD HEALTH

Summertime and vacations go together: Time to drop in on a travel agent and make a reservation for plane or train tickets to that one-in-a-million spot at the shore or in the mountains.

It's also time to see your family physician: Time to have that annual before-we-go-on-vacation check-up.

Your doctor is sure to know what will best protect your health in the coming months and what medications you might need for the trip ahead, for the weeks away from home.

Why not make an appointment today? And if he should give you his prescription for the medications your family should take along, he is giving you your ticket to health. Important as your travel reservations are, your health is immeasurably more important.

country and in England, have been awarded to William Durrey Blake, Representatives of the "Big Three" — television, Hollywood and Broadway — are expected to bid on the dramatization.

The 30-year-old Baker, a native of Biddeford, Maine, is Woodrow Wilson Professor of Literature at Princeton, a former chairman of the Department of English and an outstanding authority in modern American and English literatures. Three years ago he was a member of the Special Faculty in an advisory capacity to the Board of Trustees in the election of Dr. Robert F. Goheen, Princeton's 16th president.

"Princeton is the university depicted in Baker's 'A Friend in Power.' In praising the work to the stars, The New York Times pointed out: 'And among Princeton's traditions there are no suggestions of fows over the eating club system. ROCKEFELLER TO USE POLLS
In Caustic Decision, Nelson Rockefeller, who reportedly spent more than $100,000 in his New York gubernatorial campaign, will ask state his policy future on one of Princeton's leading industries, the public opinion polls.

In line with Rockefeller's intention, it is expected that a Princeton consultant will be named to manage the November and December polls, which could cost the Governor $50,000 just to decide whether he should seek the Republican presidential nomination.

Local survey executives, led by Dr. George H. Gallup, hailed the decision as an tribute to the accuracy and reliability of the polls, and a sage political choice. Dr. Gallup noted that the only alternative in for a candidate to enter the primaries.

"Primary elections are our country's greatest fraud," he declared. "They have never served the purpose for which they were intended. They mean nothing and only an idiot would believe that an election in which ten percent of the citizens vote can mean anything at all."

Dillman M. K. Smith, vice-chairman of the board of Opinion Research Corporation, said Governor Rockefeller made the only reasonable decision. "Public opinion polls are the only scientific and systematic way of gauging public opinion," he observed. "It's much too important to rely on guesswork."

Local pollsters point proudly to the advancements which they say will prevent repetition of the debacles of 1936 and 1948, when the straw votes predicted land-slides for Wendell Willkie and Thomas E. Dewey. Gerald A. Bramwell, vice-president of Benson and Benson, called the improvement of sampling technique, and the scientific design of the indirect questions, the industry's most significant achievements.

POLICE IN LIMELIGHT
Promotions, Radio, Jail. A large part of the August Council meeting was given over to pressing police matters, ranging from a proposed "merit-seniority" system designed to fill the existing vacancies of Lieutenant and Sergeant, through a semi-technical discussion of improved radio communication, to the State's "annual condemnation" of the Borough's lamentable jail facilities.

Both the new communications system and the promotion plan, enabling patrolmen with three years of service to compete for the sergeant and patrolman and sergeants with seven years of service to stand for examination as prospective lieutenants, will be "up" for final action at the Council's next Agenda Meeting on August 31.

From the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies came this "glowing comment" on the jail in the collar of Borough Hall. "We regret to report that your facility was found in unacceptable condition and that equipment was inadequate for normal police needs. We, therefore, urge compliance with the suggested recommendations in order that acceptable standards of maintenance and procedure may be established."

TOPICS Of the Town

FIRE PLAN SET

For Township. A broad plan to set up 19 "local points" to speed fire equipment to blazes in Princeton Township was laid out at a meeting of Borough and Township officials at Township Hall last Thursday.

The plan is designed to facilitate fire-fighting prior to the possible future installation of fire phone boxes in the Township. The 19 points will be given code numbers and in the event of a fire, equipment will be directed by the fire alarm system to the code point nearest the scene of the fire. This will be similar to the system now in use in the Borough, except that the Township code points will not be equipped with phone boxes.

There is at present no fire zoning in the Township. When a report of fire is received, the alarm system rings the number of the Borough phone box nearest the scene. Fire engines are directed to the exact address by two-way radio, but firemen arriving later in private cars have no way of pinpointing the exact location of the fire.

In addition, the Township will study the possibility of installing phone boxes at five key locations: Shady Brook Lane at Kingsport Road, Valley Road at Witherspoon Street, Route 206 at Hillside Avenue, Stockton Street, Route 206 at Hillside Avenue, Stockton Street at the Township line and Mercer Road at Quaker Road.

BRAVING THE WATERS: Caught in a slightly more serious predicament than other Princetonians during recent downpours were Griggstown residents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sherman. Nothing daunted, Mr. Sherman (carrying brief case with Mrs. Sherman "floating" her husband's shoes) made his way to New York City where he is associated with the National Distillers and Chemical Company. Edward Torquetti's grocery store, at the corner of Canal Road and the Griggstown bridge, is the landmark in the background. (Town Topics Photo by S. N. Afriati.)

The meeting, the first designed to resolve some of the differences of opinion on fire prevention between the Borough and Township, was attended by John B. Redding, Borough fire commissioner; Robert Mooney, Borough clerk; Joseph Stemmlie and James Pace of the Borough fire department; James G. Campbell Jr., Township fire commissioner; Chief James B. Campbell Jr., Township police; Joseph Nini, Township clerk, and Stanley C. Smoyer and John S. Mount of the Township Committee.

REC BOARD NAMED

In Township, Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman has appointed Mrs. John V. A. Fine, Melvin E. Gottlieb, Richard Pearson, Robert Sinkler and Gerald A. Speedy to the newly formed Township Board of Recreation Commissioners. The appointments were announced at Monday night's meeting of the Township Committee.

Mrs. Fine, Mr. Gottlieb and Mr. Speedy were members of the Joint Borough-Township Citizens' Advisory Committee on Recreation. Mr. Pearson is a member of the Township Board of Education, while Mr. Sinkler is active in the summer recreation program. The members, who will serve without pay, were assigned staggered terms ranging from one year (Mr. Gottlieb) to five years (Mrs. Fine). As their terms expire, new appointments will be made for five-year terms.

TEENAGERS: HERE'S YOUR CHANCE TO BE ON TV

You can be one of the 40 lucky couples to appear on the Alan Freed television show, and all you have to do is attend the Scott Hale Record Hop this Friday from 8 to 11:30 p.m. on Bamberger's Roof and clip out the coupon below.

- Tiger Bus Line will leave Princeton at 1:30 p.m., August 17, 20 and 21; arrive back in town at 9:30 p.m.
- Trip includes appearance on Alan Freed's show and dinner in Albert's French Restaurant in Greenwich Village. (all the steak, chicken or fried shrimp you can eat.)
- Entire trip will cost only $5. (everything included)
- Since only a limited number can appear on the TV show, first preference will be given to winners of a dance contest to be held at the Scott Hale Record Hop.
- The trip will be chaperoned.
- To be eligible you must present the following coupon at the Record Hop.

I would like to appear on the August 17, 20, 21 (circle choice of date) Alan Freed television show. I understand that transportation and dinner (all expenses) will cost me $5, payable in advance. I also understand that the trip will be chaperoned.

He interest to introduce the ordinance at this time."

Hyman Cashman, representing the developers, said the repairs would not be as difficult or time-consuming as Mr. Mount indicated, and added that he hoped to have them completed in a week if weather permits. The public hearing on the ordinance is set for the committee's September 14 meeting, but final passage will be delayed if the roads are not in acceptable condition by that date.

Roads Accepted. Approved on second reading, and thereby passed into law, were ordinances accepting into the public roads system part of Poe Road, Grover Avenue north of Dorwin Avenue and part of Cedar Lane. The committee tabled an ordinance accepting Portico Lane and part of Maxwell Lane pending construction of a culvert at Maxwell Lane and Mercer Road and receipt of the as-built survey.

Mr. Mount announced the committee will adopt a new policy on construction bond reduction requests beginning September 1. From that date, only one reduction will be made during the life of the bond and that will never be in excess of 50 percent of the face value of the bond. Furthermore, bonds will not be reduced below $5,000. It has been the custom—mutual's policy in grant several small reductions as work progresses, and this has resulted in an unworkable number of minor requests, Mr. Mount said.

Other Business. Contracts were awarded to Agabelli Brothers, Trenton, who bid $46,342.55 for the construction of part of Princeton Avenue, including sidewalks, Frank Porcilli and Sons, Trenton, $7,602.60 for sidewalks on Riverside Drive West, and Nassau Oil Co. for delivery of gasoline in the Township at the prevailing tank-wagon price on the date of delivery.

Communications, including a petition signed by 42 persons, objecting to the planned parking ban on Harrison Street south of Western Way were transmitted to the County Board of Freeholders. Committee Chairman James G. Campbell Jr. said the Township has requested a state survey with an eye toward lowering the speed limit on Princeton Pike. He said the Township's new radar system will be used to enforce the existing 30-mile limit there.

A $400 performance bond for Princeton Custom Homes was released in Princeton Construction Co., the developer. Mayor Fairman said future road-acceptance ordinances will automatically be accompanied by bond-release resolutions. The Institute for Advanced Study's $20,000 cash deposit on Portion Lane and Maxwell Lane was reduced to $5,000.

Action was deferred on the proposed Harrison Street sewer, pending receipt of estimates from homeowners by attorney Gordon Griffin. Engineer Calvin Schellfield said street signs indicating Riverside Drive East and Riverside Drive West will be placed at appropriate intersections. The numbering of houses on the U-shaped street will not be changed.

DIRECTOR'S SOCIAL RESEARCH

In New York, Dr. Alfred de Grazia, 306 Nassau St., has been named director of the Center for Applied Social Research, a new branch of New York University designed to expand the university's research relationships in New York City.

The new center will conduct research that calls for collaboration among specialists from different fields. Each department or school of the University will continue to have responsibility for research and training within its own specialty.

Dr. de Grazia, who is a professor of social theory, has spent the last two years in independent research and consultation and in the publication of a monthly professional journal.

RECORD HOP PLANNED

Dance Winners to Appear on TV, Scott Hale will hold the sesson in a series of record hops Friday from 8 to 11:30 p.m. on Barn-erger's Roof in the Princeton Shopping Center. The Delicates, United Artists recording group who sing the record "Romeo is my Love" are scheduled to appear.

Ten couples who win the dance contests at the record hop will appear on the Alan Freed television show. The ten top long-playing records from the ABC-Paramount catalogue and two passes to the Lawrence Drive-In will be given as door prizes.

Mr. Hale, a disc jockey who has arranged the hops, says that the dances are "especially for the teenagers so that they'll have something to do on summer nights." He emphasized that adult chaperones will attend the hops, and that other adults are welcome. An admission of 25 cents will be charged of teenagers, with adults admitted free when accompanied by a teenager.

Two more of the informal dances are planned for August 28 and September 11. Further information can be gained from the ad on page 3.

THIRTIE LODGE TO MEET

Friday Evening. The regular meeting of Thistle Lodge 220 of the Daughters of Scotia will be held Friday night (Aug. 14) at the Odd Fellows Hall on Witherspoon St. at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Gladys Wheeler will preside at the business meeting and refreshments will be by a committee headed by Miss Christina Carnegie.

SPEEDERS TO WALK

For Auto Violations. Peter Yuras, R.F.D. 1, was one of 113 New Jersey residents who lost driving licenses during the week ending July 31. His permit will be suspended for 30 days under the Speed Revocation Program which provides for license revocation for any motorist convicted of exceeding 40 miles per hour on any highway, or 70 on the parkway or turnpike.

Since the first of the year 4353 resident drivers and 826 non-resident motorists have had their driving privileges suspended under the program, according to Ned J. Parschian, Acting Director of Motor Vehicles.

News Of The THEATRES

A review of the current production at Murray Theatre, "Romeo and Juliet," appears on page 19.

"BOY FRIEND" SCHEDULED

By University Players, The University Players will present their final production of the summer, "The Boy Friend," by Sandy Wilson, next Tuesday through Saturday at Murray Theatre. Performances are at 8.30.

The play, a musical spoof of the 1920's, was first produced by Wilson at a private club in London for a few friends six years ago. It is still running in London, and has been produced in the interim both on and off Broadway in New York.

Stars will be Philip Minor and Sara Rhodes. Miss Rhodes recently returned from Italy, where she sang both Mimi and Musetta in productions of "La Bohème" in Milan and Florence. Staging and musical direction will be handled by Steven Lipsitz and Richard Cunningham, respectively. Tickets and information are available from the University Players, Murray Theatre, WA 4-3539.

THE PLAYHOUSE:

A Hole in the Head (August 9-13) is a thoroughly delightful comedy-dramatic starring Frank Sinatra, Edward G. Robinson, Eleanor Parker, Carolyn Jones, Thelma Ritter and Keenan Wynn and introducing Eddie Hodges, the 10-year-old charmer of "The Music Man." A good deal of the credit for its success lies with Frank Capra, who produced and directed, and Arnold Schulman, who contributed the fast-paced, funny script.

Sinatra is magical in the role of a hard-up Miami hotel owner whose attempts to raise capital for his place are confused by wholesome yet multi-faced romances with Miss Jones and Miss Parker, and by his determination to hold onto his motherless son (Hodges) despite the well-meaning objections of friends and relatives. While Sinatra's qualifications as a father are not immediately apparent to the casual observer, they are fervently asserted by Hodges, who calls him "Champ" and resists being shipped off to stay with Uncle Mario (Robinson) in New York.

There are two good songs by Sammy Cahn and Jimmy Van Heusen, "All My Tomorrows" and "High Hopes," the latter, according to the record label, performed by "Frank Sinatra and a Bunch of Kids." Everyone involved in this picture is competent and they're all obviously having a good time. Spirits are so uniformly high, in fact, that the one or two descents into sentimentality do not substantially mar the brightness of the picture. "A Hole in the Head" is in CinemaScope and color. Recommended.

Middle of the Night (August 16-18) finds Paddy Chayefsky, the halting but intriguing diarist of middle class lives and loves in the big town, returning to the cinematic style he employed so ably in "The Bachelor Party" and "Marty." His portrayals are vivid and the film escapes the ennui that stories of this genre are prey to chiefly through the performance of Fredric March. March seems to have difficulty deciding whether his heritage is Jewish or Irish, but his portrayal of a middle-aged widower who falls in love with the beautiful young receptionist (Kim Novak) in his garment firm is straightforward and touching.

The family interference with romance and their eventual decision to get married over all objections are presented with warmth and understanding. Miss Novak is hardly a suitable acting foil for March, but her function is mostly decorative and she handles it brilliantly. Standout supporting performances are contributed by Glenda Farrell, as Miss Novak's domineering and unfeeling mother, and Albert Dekker, as March's business partner. The film was directed by Delbert Mann, whose past successes have included "Marty," "Bachelor Party" and "Separate Tables." The black-and-white photography, most of it done on location in New York, is excellent.

The Big Circus (August 19-22) is a star-studded, dramatically insignificant colossus that is best when it provides a Technicolor, CinemaScope view of the Big Since worst when it probes superficially into the lives of those behind the scenes. Featured performers are Victor Mature, Red Buttons, Rhonda Fleming, Kathryn Grant, Vincent Price, Peter Lorre, David Nelson, Steve Allen and Gilbert Roland.

The plot, obviously, is unimportant, having to do with some financial problems encountered by the circus owner (Mature) and their eventual solution, but there are lots of trapeze acts and clowns (there is one of them) and, for good measure, an escaped lion, a fire on the circus grounds and a tightrope journey over Niagara Falls by Gilbert Roland. David Nelson, Ozzy's other little boy, is the villain of the piece and he comes to a suitably spectacular demise.

THE GARDEN

Daddy Long Legs (August 13-15) is a warmhearted, something-for-the-girls effort featuring Fred Astaire and Leslie Caron. The picture is nicely mounted in CinemaScope and color, and there are a number of unmemorable songs, of which "Something's Got to Give" is the best.

Astaire, a millionaire playboy, comes upon Miss Caron in an orphange while he is taking France. He is taken with her gauzy-like freshness and decides to become her patron. Without revealing his identity, he pays for her tuition at a Massachusetts girls' college, where she rooms with his niece (Terry Moore). He meets her there while he is visiting Miss Moore, and falls in love. Convinced he is too old for her, Astaire leaves the world but finds himself unable to shake her from his mind. The plot unwinds from here in predictable musical-comedy fashion.

It's all charming enough, although Miss Caron's rather fragile appeal has never electrified this department. Astaire is winning as always, and his distinctive, amuseical vocal style provides some of the film's highlights. Fred Clark, given a sympathetic role for a change, is affable as Astaire's cupid-playing lunatic manager. The picture was first released in 1955.

The Desk Set (Aug. 17-19) features Spencer Tracy, Katherine Hepburn, Gig Young, Joan Blondell and Dina Merrill in a clever man-dog story about the efforts of automation on the research department of a giant broadcasting company. This may not be the most profound drama in which Miss Hepburn and Tracy have ever appeared, but they both give it their full attention and appear to be enjoying themselves.

Miss Hepburn, the research department head, is in love with Young. When efficiency expert Tracy announces he is bringing in an electronic brain to run the department's business, she is aghast but she gradually begins to find Tracy attractive. This romantic quadrangle climaxes when Miss Hepburn invites Tracy into her apartment during a storm and they are discovered there by Young, who misunderstands and has to be consoled at length.

Meanwhile, back at the office, the brain has been installed and the workers have received pink slips. In protest, they stop work immediately and leave the office's staggering workload to the computer. After some frantic scrambling around, it's learned that the pink slips were the result of a mistake by another electronic brain, and no one is to be dismissed.

In outline, this may sound a little silly and overdrawn, but pictures, happily, are not produced in outline. The script is fast-paced and witty, and the acting is up to the usual high standard of all concerned. "The Desk Set," adapted from the successful Broadway play of the same name, was made in 1957. It is in CinemaScope and color.

FLAX TO SPIN*

No, to Purl. Linen yarn, to be knit into blouse or sweater, comes in a kit now available at The Knitting Shop, Tulane St. There is enough yardage in the kit to make yourself a skirt and enough yarn to knit a top. The Irish have been generous, and you'll be able to do a long-sleeved sweater if you wish, and trim it with the same linen you've used in your skirt. Comes in toast, beige, pink or blue.

If you've succumbed to the mohair craze, you'll want a new book now in stock at The Knitting Shop. In it you'll find directions for a man's cardigan, a woman's sheath with jacket, several short weeknits including a bell-hop jacket with three-quarter sleeves and mandarin collar, a push-up cardigan and a short bulky jacket.

Bernat now has Astrakhan—a mohair, wool and nylon yarn with a decided crimp. You can get a sweater kit of Astrakhan to make yourself a short coat, or long cardigan. It has elbow-length cuffed sleeves and great big pockets. Eight colors to choose from, including Wedgwood, opart and wild rose.

There is also a cape stole kit. Use this cape for bed-jacket. If you get chilly reading mysteries in bed.

Another kit, its yarn quite different in texture, is a dress kit with worsted yarn to make a one-piece, short-sleeved dress. The kit is only a few dollars, so you end up with a custom-made dress for almost nothing. Colors like gold, coral, green, beige, navy and turquoise.

That Astrakhan comes up again in a Curly Moe pack. Didn't know moosehairs could curl, did you? These, of course, are slip-ons that tie snugly to ankle with a black ribbon drawstring.

The baby parka kit comes in five baby colors. It's a real little parka of nylon and worsted, half and half. The hood ties under the chin and has a bow on top.

Transition Jacket. The Guatemalan jackets at Clayton's, heavy basketweave, are perfect transition jackets for cool August nights and cool September days. These box jackets are all-over embroidered with native figures that look rather like strings of cut-out paper dolls. Colors are navy, black, cocoa or wine on a deep natural background. There are self buttons, a round collar and patch pockets. For $16.95.

Brighten your jaded garden furniture with an umbrella tablecloth. Designed for round umbrella tables, the cloth has a slit which snaps open and shut to give you a flat smooth fit around your umbrella pole. Colors are shades of blue and green, shades of gold, shades of pink and raspberry—all in stripes—and a bandanna print. Four-inch fringe goes around. The 70-inch cloth is $8.95.

Linen so coarsely woven it looks like fute has been used for some ombre striped tablecloths in gold or brown and

What's The Point?
First there were tapestries, then there was petit-point. Then somebody invented gros-point. Now you can do something called quick-point and where we go from here is any needlewoman's guess.

Quick-point, with meshes approximately the size of chicken-wire, is designed for people who want results, fast. To make things even faster, the pieces you work in quick-point are mostly small. Should come in handy at Christmas time.

At the moment, The Knitting Shop on Tulane has some charming pin-cushions with wreaths of flowers, gracefully raveling spools of thread and so on; pictures in frame, including fawns and does, children and birds of various kinds. You'll be finished before you start.

orange, the stripes varying in width and depth of color.

Foam-backed place mats have simulated stitches showing on the plastic. Designs are a "Wheel of Fortune," or scrolls of vaguely Grecian extraction. Some mats have gold tracings around the scrolls, or golden and white grass blades and leaves against pale yellow "straw." You may decide on gold and silver pinapples on an oyster white ground.

Shed-surface mats, still with foam backs, have stylized leaves making a frame border around a blue, yellow, pink or aqua mat. Pale beige has bronze and white daisies in its lower right corner with tall grasses at the left for balance.

Moving on to other departments, we find that Clayton's is offering some special Berkshire housewifery. There are autumn shades named for the various aspects of a pirate's career, of all things, and you'll choose from "Spanish moss," which rather speaks for itself, "Smuggler's Gold," and "Seven Seas." These colors aren't too hard to piece out, but "Ransom" may throw you: It's red, kid, red. "Buccanner" is brown.

Prices for Berkshire, during this week's special once-a-year offering, are $10.95 for the $13.95 pair, $11.95 for the $15.95 and $12.95 for the $16.95. Three pairs for $31.9, $34.9 and $37.9, respectively.

BIRTH LIST

Nine Arrivals. Nine children, five boys and four girls, have been born to Princeton-Area parents at Princeton Hospital. Parents of sons include Mr. and Mrs. Joseph, Toth, 6 Maple Terrace, July 30; Mr. and Mrs. David Chamberlain, 224-C Halsey Street, August 5; Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Hair, 64 Hart Avenue, Hopewell, August 6; Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Hunt, 20 Cuyler Road, and Mr. and Mrs. George J. Buccanell, 150 Linden Lane, August 8. Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rosner, 33 Chestnut Street, August 2; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gronwell, 12 Riverdale Drive, August 3; Mr. and Mrs. Heath Licklider, 87 McCash Circle, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Chounard, 26 Blackwell Avenue, Hopewell, August 6.

"ATOMIC AGE CANAL"

Cools Matterhorn. The Delaware and Raritan Canal, abandoned after almost a century of transportation use, is filling new purposes in the atomic age. The canal now supplies 25 million gallons of water daily to industries and research projects between Trenton and New Brunswick.

A million-gallon a day customer is Project Matterhorn, at Princeton University's James Forrestal Research Center. The water is used for cooling purposes in high-level research projects in the field of thermonuclear fusion.

The six-mile canal, the main transportation artery in central New Jersey in the second half of the 19th century, was abandoned by private owners in 1953. New Jersey spent more than a million and a half dollars to convert the canal into a water source, but now the state estimates annual sales of the water will run to $300,000.

According to reports from the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, the fish-laden canal supplied more than seven billion gallons of water to central New Jersey customers last year. During the 1957 drought, the canal was used as an emergency source, feeding fifty million gallons a day to municipalities that otherwise would have been without water.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Lawrence Plans Registration. School children who plan to enter Lawrence Township elementary schools for the first time this fall must register Thursday, August 27, between 9:30 and 11:30, and 1:15 and 3:15 at their respective schools. Proof of vaccination against small pox, as well as inoculations against diphtheria and polio, must be presented by prospective first and second grade pupils, unless the family doctor has advised against such immunization or there is an objection on religious grounds.

All children in the elementary grades must have two polio shots by February 1960, with the third shot to be given by September of next year. New residents are reminded to bring last year's report card so their children may be placed in the proper grade, in addition to birth certificates.

Children entering the first grade must be 6 years old by November 30 of this year, while the minimum age for kindergarten pupils is 5 years as of the same date.

New Junior high school students may register at any time this summer at the school, 2455 Princeton Pike. They should bring their birth certificate, transfer card and last year's report card.

From Bell to RCA, RCA two-way radios will be installed in Township police cars under a lease-purchase arrangement which will cost $135 monthly for five years. The police formerly used a communications system owned by Bell Telephone, which cost $146.50 a month straight rental.

The change was necessitated when the Federal Government's

MURRAY THEATER

News Of The Theatres

LOVERS OF VERONA

Another Triumph for Players. The Princeton University Players have added another link in its chain of successful productions this summer with "Romeo and Juliet." The Shakespeare tragedy opened Tuesday night at the Murray Theatre and will be performed nightly through Saturday.

The success of the ambitious production is due to many members of the Players' hardworking staff, the director, Philip Minor, the producer, David Sawyer, the costume designer, Greta Richards, and the members of the huge cast. The single cue by Paul Glickler, showing a town square in Verona outside the Capulet house, allowed for more fluidity in staging and a smoother handling of exits and entrances than one would have thought possible on Murray Theatre's small stage.

David Sawyer has divided the more than three-hour-long play into two acts. The first act had a number of rough spots of which, unfortunately, the celebrated balcony scene was one, but the second act was almost flawlessly performed Tuesday night. The final scene with its recaptulations of events of which the audience are fully aware, may have enchanted an Elizabethan audience, but it fails to capture the imagination of a modern audience.

Philip Minor has done a fine job of keeping his large cast moving smoothly through the play. Two scenes, one involving six freeters engaged in fierce combat and another showing three couples executing a stately dance, choreographed by Mark Gibbons, with numerous onlookers, must have been particularly challenging. In these, as all through the play, Mr. Minor has risen nobly to the challenge. A number of times at the opening performance, the players seemed intent on addressing the wings or the back of the stage, but these flaws will undoubtedly be corrected by Mr. Minor during the run.

Haunting Juliet. Two newcomers to the Murray stage, Mona Yaari and Paul Prokop, have been assigned the parts of the young lovers. Miss Yaari gave a beautiful, haunting portrayal of Juliet, showing her first as an emotionally unworldly child and tracing her maturing with sensitivity and delicacy. Mr. Prokop was less satisfying as Romeo, partly because he substituted speed for elan of elocution, but he did manage to give real life to his portrayal in several scenes, as in the one where he learns of his banishment from Verona. A truly professional job was done by Emery Battis as Capulet whom he played with vigor and understanding. John Wynne-Evans filled the theatre with vitality as a magnificent-looking Mercutio and made his character believable both in his boisterous gaiety early in the play and in his venomous late later. Mary Louise Wilson gave a rich and compassionate—but perhaps a bit broad—interpretation of the part of Juliet's nurse.

As Friar Laurence whose machinations result in the lovers' deaths, Donald Cameron made his character truly pathetic. On the debut date, Frances Keene was almost impossible to hear as Lady Capulet, and John Drury failed to show any real depth in his portrayal of Montague.

Music for the play was composed by Richard Cumming who also appeared in several parts. The lighting was well-handled by Bill Perce and Michael Stevens. Mr. Minor was assisted by Stephen Lipatiz in his directorial chores.

Obituaries

Dr. Louise Pearce, a pioneer in the research of African sleeping sickness, died in a New York City hospital Tuesday. She was 74 years old.

Dr. Pearce, who lived in Skillman at the Trevena Farm with Australian artist Ida A. R. Wyllie, was a retired associate of the Rockefeller Institute, where she had served on the faculty 38 years.

Best known for her discovery of typhus, a drug that was successful in the treatment of the then-fatal sleeping sickness, Dr. Pearce spent three years in the Belgian Congo and treated the natives with her discovery. More than half a million natives have received inoculations of the drug.

A former president of the Women's Medical College of Philadelphia, Dr. Pearce was widely known as a medical writer and the author of many articles in medical journals. She received honorary degrees from Wilson, Beaver and Skillman Colleges and Bucknell University.

Funeral arrangements were private.

This Is Princeton

MONDAY, 17

The August Council gathering was an "an assembly from far and near." Mayor Male had just returned from the Governors' Conference in Puerto Rico, Councilman Colman from a month in Europe. Councilman Lester from Cape Cod and Borough Clerk Mooney from convalescent leave on the Jersey Shore. Mayor Male was delighted to find that the "Mayoreas" of San Juan hold a weekly "Open House," while Councilman Colman lauded his normal report on shade trees with reminiscences about "the trees of Paris."

The perfect "no-breaking, no-entry record" of recent weeks was shattered Friday evening as persons unknown broke into the professional's shop at the String-dale Golf Club and made off with $5.55. The automobile stolen last week from the Princeton Hospital parking lot was recovered in a wooded area near Lakewood, N. J.

Princeton may have once been quiet in the "good old summer-time." However, last Saturday's opening of the new headquarters of Princeton Savings and Loan Association, 19 Chambers Street, attracted nearly 1,000 persons, and the 42-year-old institution handed out 500 shiny silver dollars in exchange for 1917 coins of all denominations. . . The Association's "net" — in distribution $500 — came to approximately $14.55.

OPPORTUNITY AND DANGER. Princetonnians generally indicated they are cautiously in favor of the coming Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange of visits in their responses to Town Topics' "Question of the Week." Princeton Professor Cyril E. Black, one of the nation's leading authorities on Russian affairs, feels the visits will be worthwhile if Khrushchev is impressed with "the strength and purposefulness of American policy," and if friendly Soviet gestures cause us to "let down our guard." (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you feel the coming exchange of visits by President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev will have any important bearing on the outlook for world peace?

Where asked: Around town.

Mrs. Carolyn Nyström, 302 Nassau Street, ETS secretary: I think it will have a slight effect, definitely, but in the long run. This in itself isn't going to make peace, but it's a prerequisite if we're ever to have peace. It should bring about some easing of tensions and understanding.

Dr. Carl H. Jörn, 64 Wilson Road, psychiatrist: I think it will, surely even if it would have been better if they had had some success at Geneva first. Khrushchev seemingly is without any knowledge of the United States. It should be quite beneficial for him to come here.

Mrs. Raymond G. Wyner, 151 Clover Lane, housewife: I'd like to think that they will, but I don't really know. I think we'd all like to believe that they don't want a war, just as we don't. I'd like to be optimistic but in the past the Russians have always tried to give the impression that we were the warmongers and then when the opportunity came to do something about it on a top level, they've backed out. I don't see why it will be any different this time.

Cyril E. Black, 182 Western Way, professor of history, Princeton University: I feel that the forthcoming exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev provides both an opportunity and a danger: an opportunity to improve the Soviet government with the strength and purposefulness of American policy, and a danger that we will be lulled by Soviet gestures of friendship into letting down our guard and weakening our system of alliances.

Mrs. George Gray, 20 Lytle Street, housewife: Yes, I do. The Russians have the wrong outlook on our life. If somebody in a high office like Khrushchev can get over here and see how we live, he can understand democracy. Their basic idea is communism and I think it's just ridiculous. If they could see things our way, not that it's necessarily best, we could understand each other. The same thing goes for President Eisenhower. All we know about Russia is what we read in the papers.

Ignace Karacsony, proprietor, Nassau Tailor Shop, 4 Chambers Street: It's a good idea for Khrushchev to come here, to talk things over, but you can't trust what the Russians say. I am a Hungarian, and we learned in our revolution that they cheat and can't be trusted.

Mrs. Raymond V. Miller, 51 Wilson Road, housewife: Yes, I feel that quite strongly. There's a great chance of better understanding and we should try all possible means. I don't think anyone believes it will be completely successful, but it should improve understanding.

Patrick M. Corvino, proprietor, Princeton Barber Shop, 11 Chambers Street: I guess probably the visits will improve the chances for peace. It's wise to give Khrushchev a chance to see how we live here.

Mrs. William Salzman, 6 Cherry Hill Road, housewife: I think so. I think it's a good idea for them to get together and talk things over and maybe settle things. I don't know whether they'll get anything settled, but I hope so.

Morris T. Reed, 114 Spruce Street, street metal worker: Absolutely, I think it will. When Nixon was over there they treated him fine and I think they'd do the same for Eisenhower. If Khrushchev comes over here I think it will be good. He'll learn a lot about world peace.

Editor's Note

In last week's "Question of the Week," the answer attributed to Jack Petrone was actually given by Samuel Lisi, 139 Mountain Avenue. Mr. Petrone was not interviewed.

STEELMAN INSTALLED

As Agricultural Board Member, Clarence H. Steelman Sr., Clarksville Road, has been installed as a member of the State Board of Agriculture. Representing fruit growers throughout the State, he operates a nursery devoted to fruit trees and small fruit plants.

The New Jersey Peach Council and the New Jersey Apple Institute officially accept new varieties of fruits introduced by the nursery. Mr. Steelman is a past president of the New Jersey State Horticultural Society and the E. B. Verbeest Agricultural Society. He has also been a director of the TriCounty Cooperative Auction Market Association and the New Brunswick Production Credit Association, both with offices in Hightstown.

CENSUS JOBS COMING

5600 for New Jersey. For the first time since Herbert Hoover was president in 1930, the Republican party in New Jersey will direct allocation of several thousand jobs involved in taking the decennial census. The positions traditionally filled on a political patronage basis, were assigned by the Democrats when the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was president in 1940 and Harry S. Truman went in the White House a decade later.

Republican Senator Clifford P. Case will serve as a one-man clearing house for the 5622 federal jobs to be filled between late fall this year and the beginning of the winter. He will handle job distribution in Mercer and Burlington Counties, and will act as advisor for the rest of New Jersey at the Bureau of the Census in Washington.

Ten central offices will be established in the State's principle cities, one of them in Trenton. A supervisor will be named for each, will work for about five months and be paid $50 a month. Their assistants will be paid up to $100 a month, while crew leaders will receive $15.50 a month for two or three months work. The actual census leaders, called "enumerators," are paid by the questionnaire. They can earn up to $13 a day and often work only evenings and weekends. There are 5,331 jobs open as enumerators and 231 crew leaders will be appointed.

The schedule for hiring the ten New Jersey supervisors by late fall and opening the offices which will serve as headquarters in February. Census-taking will begin April 1.

In addition to Trenton, offices will be located in Atlantic City, Long Branch, Bound Brook, Elizabeth, Hackensack, Paterson, Newark and Jersey City. The State's nine Republican Congressmen will have jurisdiction, under Senator Case, in their own districts and will also direct job allocation in neighboring districts where they are currently represented by Democrats.

TWISTED SEMINAR PLANNED

By Franklin & Marshall. The board of trustees of Franklin & Marshall College will meet here this October for a three-day seminar on the role of the trustees in the future of the college. Dr. Harold W. Dodds will be one of the seminar consultants.

Issues to be discussed at the seminar include future educational requirements at the college, fitting into the national welfare picture, enrollment growth and methods of financing. The board will plan its role in gaining support for the program.

Laurel Fell, member of the board of overseers of Harvard University, will be the other consultant. In addition to the board of trustees and Frederick D. Bolman Jr., president of the college, chief administrative officers will attend.

TURKEYISH LECTURING

At American Exhibition in Moscow. Dr. John Turkevich, of the Department of Chemistry of Princeton University, is interpreting scientific achievements in this country and giving science lectures in Russian at the American National Exhibit in Moscow.

He has been appointed "Representative of American Science" by Dr. Harold C. McClure, general manager of the exhibit. He will be in Moscow until Labor Day when he will spend eight days in Warsaw as a member of the U.S. Delegation to the Conference on the Effects of Nuclear Radiation. Dr. Turkevich and his wife, Dr. Ludmila B. Turkevich, a lecturer in Russian at Princeton University, have just published a textbook of Russian terms to facilitate understanding of Soviet scientific literature. Mrs. Turkevich is also in Moscow as a full-time staff member at the Exhibition.

TRAFFIC FLOW INCREASES

On New Jersey Turnpike. A record-breaking flow of revenue vehicles on the New Jersey Turnpike is continuing with more than a million vehicles using the toll road weekly. The week of June 24-30 set the record when 1,632,000 vehicles paid tolls.

The million mark was reached for the first time in the turnpike's history the preceding week when an estimated 1,015,000 vehicles were collected. Since then the traffic flow has passed a million each week. The previous record was set on the week ending August 5, 1968 when 980,000 vehicles used the road.

Joseph Morecraft, Jr., Turnpike Authority Chairman, announced that through July 21 21,650,000 vehicles had traveled on the turnpike this year, a 13.5 percent increase over last year when the figure for a similar period was 21,752,000.

HOUSING NEEDED

For Record Grad Enrollment. The burgeoning Princeton University Graduate School, with an all-time high enrollment of 793 for the 1959-60 college year, has run out of housing space for its students. Gary B. Nash, assistant to the dean, announced this week.

Rooms and apartments in Princeton are urgently needed. Mr. Nash said. He requested residents with living facilities to rent to write to the University's real estate department with description of the premises and location, the amount of rental and any other pertinent information.

"The University cannot undertake to be an agent," he said, "but will act as a clearing house for the information of its incoming students." The enrollment of 793 is 76 above last year's and does not include 39 Visiting Fellows who are not candidates for degrees.

With University facilities for grad student housing already exhausted, the waiting list for living quarters still numbers 110 applicants for single rooms plus a number of families seeking apartment.

WEED CONTROL PLANNED

By State Highway Department. The first large scale program of roadside weed control through the use of chemical sprays is being undertaken this year by the New Jersey State Highway Department.

State Highway Commissioner Dwight R. G. Palmer said that the program will provide periodic treatment of grassy areas alongside of the road through early October. The weed-spray operation will be statewide but now only involves suburban and rural stretches of various state highways which have been selected for the project.

TO COMBAT ALCOHOLISM

Three-Point Program Offered. In an effort to combat the social and economic losses of alcoholism in this area, the Mercer County Committee on Alcoholism has proposed three definite measures to cope with the problem. The first phase of such a coordinated program would be the provision of treatment facilities for alcoholics at the Mercer County Workhouse.

The program would include psychiatric casework, medical, surgery, education and possibly individual therapy. A staff to conduct the program would include the services of a part-time clinical psychiatrist, a full time clinical psychologist and a full-time psychiatric caseworker.

A detailed report on the county's alcoholism problem has been presented to the Mercer County Board of Freeholders. Among the representatives of the Mercer County Committee who appeared before the freeholders were John Kaufman, administrator of Princeton Hospital, and Dr. E. Calvin Moore, assistant medical director at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute.

The unpleasant truth that there is a serious alcoholism problem in this county was clearly revealed in the committee's report. It estimated that there are now 8,715 alcoholics in Mercer, or nearly five per cent of the population. Some 5,631 of these are in the City of Trenton.

A "Halfway House." The committee proposed an appropriation of $30,000 to finance the workhouse program that would also include the services of a full-time social worker. Inmates discharged from the workhouse would then receive the services of community agencies equipped to aid alcoholics. The second phase of the program suggested by the committee would be the establishment of a community-supported "halfway house."

It would provide temporary living quarters to aid the rehabilitation of alcoholics while they are looking for a job and readjusting to life in society. The "halfway house" would be partially self-supporting through payment of board. It was proposed that remaining costs be met through contributions by industry and other private sources.

The third phase of the program would be an expansion in the work of the alcoholic treatment center at the Donnelly Memorial Hospital. This outpatient clinic is supported by the State Department of Health and the City of Trenton.

The report noted that "alcoholics sentenced to the workhouse, particularly the long-time repeaters, comprise one of the most difficult aspects of the problem" in this county. Both from a humanitarian and an economic point of view, the report added, the county has good reason to take these constructive steps.

MONTGOMERY COPS TITLE
Ramps in Tri-County League.
Montgomery Township won the Tri-County Baseball League championship in a runaway over South Brunswick township and the Princeton Athletic Club.
Montgomery finished with a 9-1 record while its two rivals finished under .500, with 8-8 and 5-9-1 logs, respectively.
PAC closed out its regular season by turning the tables on the league champions, 3-0, behind the shoutout hurling of Bob Montigomery, who also led the batting with Steve Hugarty. John Hoff and Peter Smyth. In other games
Montgomery overwhelmed South

Brunswick 17-4, and PAC bowed to South Brunswick, 1-4.
Playoff action was to begin Tuesday night with Princeton visiting South Brunswick. The two teams will meet in Princeton on Thursday, and the winner of the two-out-of-three series will play
Montgomery in a three game series to determine playoff laurels.

Johnny Freeman flung a three-hitter for No. 3's victory and fanned 11. He had difficulty only with Billy Bartolino, who collected ten of the nine safeties.
Albert Tule's two singles paced
No. 3.

No. 1 had to come from behind in the last inning to nose out Post 76. Jeff Lowe cracked a two-run triple to tie the score, while Richie Murray, who entered the game in relief of Lowe in the third inning, picked up the victory. Bud Muni hurried for Post 76, but fared at the end of the contest.

TOPS' GIRLS WIN TWO
Tie for Second Place. Town
Topics upended Thorne's and the Clarksville Diner to even its record and gain a second place tie with Thorne's in the Princeton Girls Softball League. Ginny Mershon shone as pitcher in both games, with a sparkling five-inning in a 3-0 shutout of Clarksville, which won the title.

Town Topics ran up a 10-0 lead against Thorne's and appeared on the way to an easy victory when the losers suddenly struck for five runs in the sixth inning. After Topics had scored an insurance run in the home half of the sixth, Thorne's tallied three more runs to draw to 11-8 before the insurrection was put down.

In the only other game, Thorne's won over Clarksville by the 7-0 forfeit score. Educational Testing Service had already closed its season in last place.

JUNIOR BALL DEADLOCKED

All Teams Split. The four teams of the Junior Baseball League have nothing to show for five weeks of action but a four-way tie for first place. The four games played last week resulted in each team splitting two contests and maintaining a .500 record.

"Since There Are People..."

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
I have just read your account of Police Chief Mondone's problem with "huckelbanged housewives" crossing Nassau Street. Did it ever occur to you that in Princeton it was safer for the pedestrian to cross Nassau Street in the middle of the block?

At all of the traffic lights from Washington Road to Bayard Lane there is as much traffic turning the corners when pedestrians are supposed to be crossing as there is traffic moving straight through when the light is red for the pedestrians. The way the traffic lights are timed in Princeton, you'd think the cars could vote.

If you come up Tulane to go to the Campus, where are you supposed to cross Nassau? If you come out of the Campus from Alexander Hall, where are you supposed to cross Nassau? How is a pedestrian supposed to cross Nassau at University Place where traffic is never stopped? The same question applies to crossing Witherspoon at Nassau, or Nassau at Bayard Lane.

It would certainly make the traffic problem easier to solve if there weren't any people. But since there are people, and when they are walking they are standing, and the drivers in cars are sitting down, it seems simple justice to delay the traffic somewhat and let the pedestrians walk across the streets.

WILLIAM VOLK
(44 Wheatland Lane)

Editor's Note: Mr. Volk's to-the-point questions are matters of growing concern to Borough officials, particularly to the Safety Committee. Another observer notes: "It is a wonder that there isn't a fatality a day on Nassau Street."

A Bumpy Road to Recreation.
To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
Princeton University is a major institution in the Princeton community life, educationally, socially, morally and in recreation. These citizens who have no official connection with the University look for certain privileges enjoyed by the official.

Townfolk, for instance, during the summer months like to fish and picnic with their friends and families on the banks of Carrigee Lake. In winter, they enjoy skating.

The entire property is privately owned by the University and could be posted with "keep-off" signs to the general public. But Princeton University is too big-hearted to impose such restrictions, knowing that adults and children, too, enjoy the facilities afforded.

For this, Princetonians are most grateful since many of them cannot go to distant public parks, to the seashore or to the mountains. They are controlled to play in the University's own backyard. So they remain here and go to the Lake!

New homes built between Broadmead and Harrison Street near the bridge have curtailed activities in that area. As a result, people are now flocking to the southern end of the lake bounded by Washington Road, the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Delaware and Raritan Canal. There you will find nice shade trees, level ground and good fishing. The kids love it there. But the access road leading from Washington Road is in a deplorable condition. Deep ruts tear off automobile mufflers, ball pipes, gas tanks and break springs. Modern cars just can negotiate the obstacle course recklessly. By the time a car owner returns home he has a huge repair bill — that is, if he can coax the family bus to make it home after a rough day out.

We know that the University is under no obligation, moral or otherwise, to improve the roadway. Maybe it wants the road to remain rough and bumpy to discourage trespassing, even though many of its employees use it daily.

A few years ago, a young man was drowned near the railroad tracks. Today, it would be next to impossible for a police car or rescue truck to reach that area in a hurry, traveling at three miles per hour or less. That it would be tragic indeed.

Come, Princeton University, open wider your big wide heart, and spread some of the many tons of cinders from your central heating plant on the bumpy road to recreation. Your many employees and other well-wishers will love you more dearly for the improvement and feel it their duty not to litter the property with rubbish. Try us!

Feels "Diary" was Slighted
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I address this letter to both "Town Topics" movie reviewer and the manager of the Princeton Playhouse, because I feel we have both been equally guilty in not making it possible for the largest possible audience to see "The Diary of Anne Frank."

The reviewer, although he "recommends" the film, seriously detracts from that recommendation by calling it "more downbeat than the book or the stage version" and then unfavorably comparing Susan Strehg with Millie Perkins, etc., etc.

The manager, painfully aware, schedules this film for only three days — and six performances at that, instead of nine performances (and even that I feel would be inadequate).

What both you gentlemen have failed to grasp is that here is a film that portrays not only a tragic fragment in the lives of a few persecuted Jews during the last war but magnificently shows the tragedy, degradation and inhumanity of all wars, in all ages. And, if this were not enough of a feat, it portrays eloquently and beautifully the forced bloom of two young people trying desperately and honestly to understand a situation that has thrust them into a world that robs them of the right to live. Are not these very basic questions ones that face all young people in every age who inherit a world not of their making?

Artistically, George Stevens has created, I think, a magnificent film. To be able to catch so much emotion with a camera is rarely if ever done as well as in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

Gentlemen, perhaps my criticism is unfairly directed to both of you, but I am angry with world that has become so steeped in mediocrity in all mediums (even emotional mediums) that it does not recognize a gem when it is presented to them.

This story, in its many versions, has moved all the world. Why then should we who live in and near Princeton be cheated of a greater opportunity of seeing such a wonderful version of the Anne Frank Diary?

Please, please, if at all possible extend the run of the movie or play it later in the fall — and let us not in the future become so snug and satisfied with "good Westerns" that we cannot recognize truth, beauty, honesty and artistry when we see it.

Sincerely,
Mrs. EDNA NISACK
1 Springfield Road
Franklin Park

Editor's Note: Town Topics' reviewer is in agreement with Mrs. Nisack as to the merits and worthwhile nature of this film. This was made clear in the phrasing of the review ("A superior motion picture, one that does justice to the distinguished play and book that preceded it") and in the fact that it was the only "recommended" picture of four shown that week.

MUSIC In Princeton

KAREN DUKE SINGS
Ballads and Folk Songs. A charming young balladeer, Karen Duke, presented a selection of ballads and folk songs in McCosh Hall Monday night to a good-sized audience. The concert was the new-inauguration in the University Players' Summer Festival.

Miss Duke's program included a group of French songs, several Calypso songs, some "tall tales," songs about soldiers, and a group of ballads of American origin. She attracted her program with an attractive voice and a pleasant stage personality, but seemed a little hampered by the size of the auditorium and unable to create any real contact with her audience.

Her voice was shown to particular advantage in a beautiful French song, "Isabelle," and in seventeenth century English love songs. "The Self-Banished" by John Blow. She gave a haunting interpretation to a French music hall favorite, "La Seine," and showed pitiful charm in her tongue-in-cheek treatment of songs like "The Old Woman" and "The Frozen Logger."

Miss Duke introduced her songs with information about the songs' origin and travels and described the content of the French songs. Her comments were often amusing, as when she, with a deadpan expression, introduced "The Willow Tree," being about a young man, with a compulsion to push his girl friends in the water. The song describes how he successfully disposes of six maidens in this manner but is undone by the seventh one.

The evening provided a chance both to hear old favorite folk songs and some seldom heard ones. The audience showed its appreciation by asking for several encores.

NATIONAL COMPETITION

For Meyer, While Governor Robert Meyer is avowedly not a candidate for national political honors, his hat is in the ring—or on the court. He is an entrant in the Senior Division of the National Tennis Doubles Championship, starting this Sunday at the Longwood Cricket Club, Brookline, Mass.

The Chief Executive's partner, or running-mate, will be Ladislav Hecht, former stand-out with once-free Czechoslovakia's Davis Cup Team and for the past several years one of this country's toughest senior tennis players. A confirmed tennis addict, the Governor participated in the Indoor Senior Championships last winter, losing handsily in the company of Gardner Mulloy.

FINAL CONCERT: Joyce Flisler, violinist, will be featured in McCosh 10 at 8:30 on Monday. Miss Flisler recently toured the Soviet Union.

Cosh 10 at 8:30 on Monday. Her program will include Beethoven's C Minor Sonata, Quinicy Porter's Second Sonata and sonatas by Bach and Prokofiev.

The Players' composer, Richard Cumming, will accompany Miss Flisler in the first two works. Miss Flisler, the wife of Ralph Mendelson, a violinist with the New York Philharmonic, is the mother of two daughters.

Her recent musical activities have included a tour of Russia, with concerts at Leningrad and Moscow, and appearances at the Metropolitan Museum in New York and the National Gallery in Washington. Tickets and information are available from the University Players, Murray Theatre, WA 4-3539.

Sports In Princeton

RESIGNATION THREATENED Over Softball Protest, Isaiah "Bink" Fisher, active in the Princeton Community Softball League since its founding four years ago and currently its secretary-treasurer, has threatened to resign in a controversy stemming from a contested league game last Tuesday. Although he himself concurred in the original decision to award the victory to Sannino's over Teague's and Burton's, Fisher now feels that Sannino's protest was illegal and the decision upholding it should be dropped.

Teague's and Burton's and Sannino's have been engaged in a series of four make-up games to determine which team will face the title-winning Sportsmen in the league's post-season playoffs. It was necessary for Teague's to win all four games to get into the playoffs. They have won three of the four, so the final decision on the contested game will determine which squad faces the Sportsmen.

According to Fisher and Jim Carter, manager of Teague's, the facts of the incident which gave rise in the protest are as follows: With two out and the score tied in the bottom of the final inning, Teague's Edward McEwen was declared safe by base umpire Herman Richardson on a close play at first, allowing a runner to score from second. Some time after the end of the game, Sannino's entered a formal protest with league commissioner Jim Hogarty, claiming that McEwen had caused no interference at first and should have been called out. At a meeting the next day attended by the league officers, including Fisher, Hogarty and Joe Baldino, vice-president, the protest was unanimously upheld and the victory was awarded to Sannino's.

Section 1, Rule 11 of the "Official Rules of Softball 1958," under which the league operates, reads as follows: "Protests shall NOT be received or considered if they are based on a decision involving the accuracy of judgment on the part of an umpire. Examples of protests which will not be considered are . . . whether there was or was not interference."

Learning this, Fisher told Hogarty he believed the officers' decision was illegal and asked for a new vote.

At a meeting Monday night, Fisher voted to deny the protest and Baldino voted to uphold it, leaving the deciding vote to Hogarty. He declined to cast it and the previous decision stood.

"I told them that if they couldn't reach a decision, I wasn't going to do it for them," Hogarty said Tuesday. "And I'm not going to." Fisher's reaction: "It's a bad decision, not in keeping with the rules. If it stands, I'll resign."

1/2 to 1/2 Acre...

introduced at $17,990!
new Kendall park

Route 2, Franklin Park, South Brunswick Township, New Jersey
Telephone: DAVIS 9-9860

NEW HOUSE! NEW SECTION! New Kendall Park is ready for you who love the 2-story Colonial home. It has Early American charm. It has Kendall Park purity and integrity in design and construction. It has more room in it (8 rooms, 2 1/2 baths), and more room around it, than many Colonials you've seen for $25,000!

NEW GREATNESS FOR AMERICA'S 2-STORY HOME Broad overhangs give it a distinctive new appearance. A children's parlor gives the growing-up generation their own room for playing and entertaining. A large plot (up to a half-acre) gives this Colonial the land to do full justice to its stately size. Kendall Park gives ranch-like living in pace-setting home. Now this famous community does the same for the 2-story!

WHAT 1,200 HOME-OWNERS ALREADY KNOW! As 1,200 Kendall Park home-owners will tell you—each home, each community facility is planned and planned to perfection. That is why Kendall Park has achieved the reputation of offering the most home and community your money can buy.

When Kendall Park comes out with something new—it is perfect, it is right, it is original, it should be seen. See the newest in home design at New Kendall Park today!

AT THOUSAND ACRES

PRINCETON TOWNSHIP

Princeton Knolls

Here's a well-constructed, most workably planned home. A three-bedroom, 1 1/2-bath split-level in a quiet residential area, yet convenient to schools, shopping. The lot is nicely planted and the house meticulously kept. Your chance for home ownership at a fair price.

PRINCETON BOROUGH

For the family wanting town living, this house would seem to fit the bill. Located on a quiet cul-de-sac, this not too large, two-story cottage on a small lot has a living room with fireplace, separate dining room, den, three bedrooms, and 1 1/2 baths. Very interesting.

$27,500

WEST WINDSOR TWP.

This Cape Cod puts the emphasis on construction and space. The first floor has a distinct center hallway, a large living room with a fireplace, a separate dining room, a modern kitchen, two large bedrooms and a tile bath. The attractive dry cellar is perfect for the would-be artisan. The second floor has two large bedrooms and a tile bath. This is a very desirable buy.

$30,500

RENTAL . . . first floor, four room unfurnished apartment. Completely renovated and redecorated. No pets or children. $150 a month.
